Chapter 1 by Christiina Kovacevic (Carebear)

People that think living in a gang is fun well let me tell you. You are wrong. Going from abusive brothers, to living with people who looks out for everyone.

"Kira are you here?" Jake yelled out. Jake is the only person out of my family who I talk to.

"I am getting ready for school." I said waking out of my room dressed in my black jeans, grey top and leather vest, along with my heels, bracelets and earrings. My make-up is dark like usual.

"Wow, that's new." Kara Jakes girlfriend said smiling at me. I gave her half a smile back and walked past them.

"Take my car to school. I have to head to the club house before school. Don't damage my baby." I said walking out the backdoor. I took a couple steps forwards and smiled when I smelt the stale air that surrounds the club house and mine. You might be asking why I live in front of the club house. Well you see when the police come they never look in my house because the complaints are always for the club house. "Tony let go of Dominic." I said shaking my head as I walked in the front door.

"Ki, what are you wearing?" Dominic asked when he looked at me.

"Way more then you are. Go get changed, otherwise I'll call Prez." I said.

"You wouldn't." Tony said. I smiled at them and walked past them.

"Daniel the boys are not wearing clothes." I yelled at the top of my lungs.

"How many times have I told you not to yell at the boys?" Daniel's deep voice shouted from the kitchen.

"So what is my favourite?" I asked. "You are very much like the boys I just told off." I laughed.

"Hey I just cooked you break..." Daniel said turning to face me. His jaw fell to the ground making me smile even more.

"Why are you staring at her?" Christian said looking at me.

"Since when did you make Goth look badass?" Daniel said making Christian and I laugh.

"You've all just opened your eyes. I've rocked this look since I meet all of you. Now about this meeting what's going on?" I asked stealing the plate out of his hands.

"Dad was worried about you going to school with most of us. So we have split into two groups. You, Christian, Dominic and a few others and I will be going to Cross academy." Daniel said leaning on the bench watching me.

"Cool, so who at this school is going to be my boyfriend this time?" I asked looking at the two.

"He is." Christian said the same time Daniel said "I am."

"Great I am dating the gang leader's son." I mumbled walking out of the kitchen. "By the way we are going to be late, so we need to leave now." I added walking over to Daniels bike. I got on the back and waited for him to arrive in his gear. This was basically like mine only he hasn't got ripped jeans and a leather jacket. It's no secret that we are dating in real life it's just as soon as anyone in the gang find out we will be forced to get married. After a good two minutes him and the rest that are going to Cross where on their bikes and we were off.

"We don't have to hide now." Daniel yelled over the wind. I smiled as we pulled up. When we came to a stop, both Daniel and I got off. I stopped next to the bike and took off the helmet. Daniel put his arm over my shoulder and we meet up with the group.

"Even though you guys have just started dating you are cute together." Damian said smiling at us as we walked to the office.

"Whatever. Are we all ready for the stairs and people moving out of our way?" I asked leaning into Daniels chest more.

"Well people are already talking about you." Christian pointed out. I stood up straighter and looked around.

"Let's see if my charm still works." I smiled at the boys and walked over to a bunch of cheerleaders. "Hi can I get you to show my friend and I to the office?" I asked as friendly as I could. I mean being Goth doesn't help at all.

"How can they all be your cousin?" Blondie number two asked.

"Christian and Isaac Knight, Tristan and Liam Hill, Justin and Dominic Armstrong. My boyfriend is Daniel Smith and I am Kira Kasey Knight." I said introducing myself and the boys.

"Tara, Lisa and I'm Taylor, the cheerleader captain." Blondie number one said or Taylor if you like. I think Daniel had enough because the next thing you know I have arms snaked around my waist and Daniels head on my right shoulder.

"Is everything alright babe?" Daniel asked smiling at me.

"Everything is fine I was just chatting to Tara, Lisa and Taylor." I smiled at him.

"Um the front office is up that way and then, turns left at the first corner." Taylor said pointing it out. I nodded a thank you and walked off waving to the boys.

"What did you say about us?" Isaac asked.

"You are my cousins. Isaac and Christian you guys are the Knights, Tristian and Liam are going by Hill, and Justin and Dom, you are going by Armstrong." I said turning as the office came into sight. They all laughed at that as we walked in and over to the front desk.

"I'll do this one." Daniel said grabbing my hand and dragging me over to the front desk.

"Hello what can I do for you dear?" the red head said.

"My girlfriend, her cousins and I are new here. We would like our stuff." Daniel said smiling at her. The boy and I laughed as she gave us our classes and locker numbers. You see we all have a charm. Mine is I can scare away the students and teachers; Daniel is the sweet on in our group who charms the teachers and the students. The others well they don't really show there charm as much as Daniel and I do. I looked down at my time table and groaned at it. Today I have:

1. Gym
2. Gym
3. AP Maths
4. Lunch
5. History
6. AP English

"Why am I in AP English?" I asked as we walked out and found our way to the gym.

"I have that as well." Tristan said looking over my shoulder.

"I thought she would have football practice with us." Daniel said.

"Actually that is my 7th." I said running my hand through my hair.

"You must be Miss Knight. I am Coach Williams." I said smiling at me and the boys behind me goofing off. "I am also a coach." I said making a joke. "I have been a coach this year." He added making everyone look at me with nonchalance.

"Sir I don't think the Knight trips would like that." A black haired male said as three boys walked out of the boys changing room.

"That is. Shit. I need to go." I said running past everyone and towards the boys.

"Kira!" Daniel and coach yelled. I just got past them when one of them grabbed my arm and pulled me to a stop.

"Kira Kasey Knight?" Blake asked looking me up and down as if he was cheeking I was his sister. I stood up straight with my hair away from my left side of the neck.

"Yes and have you got a problem?" I asked.

"Coach did you say she was on the team?" Sam asked.

"Yes why?" Coach said.

"She is on the team. We know what she is like and same as our cousins and him." Alex said smiling at me. I stumbled backwards a bit but then smiled a bit. They must have changed after I moved out. I walked over to Daniel and brought him into a hug.

"Are they your brothers?" Daniel asked as he kissed my forehead. I nodded and turned in his arms to face coach and my brothers.

"Well grab a partner and head over to the mats, today we have a special guest here to teach us self-defence." Coach said making me laugh at him and cover it up with a cough.

"Oh this is going to be fun." Daniel and I laugh with each other. The boys all looked at us like we were crazy but then my brothers were looking at me scared because they know I am a streetfighter.

"Let's go." I said grabbing Daniels hand and walking towards the big crowd of people who were shouting at someone. I let go of Daniels hand and walked through the circle. I saw the one guy on the ground that lost our fight. "Eliot what are you doing here?" I asked pulling the other guy off of him.

"Who are you?" The guy I pulled off of Eliot asked.

"I am Eliot's trainer and the most undefeated streetfighter around." I growled at him speaking softly so no one else hears me.

"Tiger Knight. I am so sorry." He said bowing at me and walking away.

"How did you break that up Kira?" Another person asked me.

"Ahh you are the Kira Kasey Knight and I am the best streetfighter out there. All of these people have all been down there and I am the only one who is still standing." I said tying my hair up in a pony tail high on my head. Leaving a bit of my hair in my hair covering my eye because of my scar.

"Wait, are you the one with the hair or mark because you have a couple of claw marks on your eye?" He asked looking know what me.

"Yep..." I said standing in front of Daniel.

"Okay." He said frowning and walking towards the front of the class. "Would Daniel and Kira please help me out up front?" He asked when he looked our way. I looked up at Daniel and smiled as I took his hand and walked him up to the stage with me.

"It might help if we know your name." I whispered when I stopped next to him with Daniels arms around my waist.

"Oh right. I am Christian K." Christian said out loud to everyone. "And today we are..."

"Babe isn't there an uncle named Christian in your family?" Daniel whispered in my ear.

"Yes, I've been told he is also a streetfighter and a self-defence teacher. And he isn't back from the naval academy yet." I whispered back lowly so only he could hear.

"Sir what does K stand for?" Blake asked.

"It's just like Nathan K. Knight." Christian said making me frown until I understood what he meant.

"B-but I thought you were still over in the naval academy." I strutted hiding my face.

"I was." He smiled at me. I smiled back but then frowned.

"Can we just start?" I asked frowning at him. He nodded and started explaining to the group what we have to do while Daniel and I talked softly about stuff.
